Senate Votes $1.3 Billion Grant For Schools

Funds Approved For Salaries, New Buildings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday night passed a $1,384,000,000 public elementary and high school grant bill containing funds for teacher salaries and building construction.

The vote was 51-34.

Shortly before final passage, the Senate rejected on a 61-25 roll-call vote the administration program calling for federal payments over the next 30 years to help pay principal and interest on three billion dollars worth of bonds issued by needy school districts for construction.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader and five other Republicans offered it as a substitute for the nearly two-billion-dollar federal grant measure.

Dirksen said it was designed to help states and local communities "carry on where there is an emergency need." He stressed it made no provision for teachers' salaries.

One Democrat

Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio was the only Democrat to vote for the administration measure.

The grant measure now goes to the House where a $4,400,000,000 bill for the same purpose was cleared last year by the Education Committee. It since has been stuck in the Rules Committee.

The House has been the graveyard of education bills for years but Democratic leaders there have said they expect this year to get some sort of measure through.

The Senate outcome was a sharp defeat for President Eisenhower who for the past two years has opposed any big school grant bill. Senate Republican leaders indicated plainly they believed the measure which was passed would be vetoed.

School Construction

The Senate passed the bill after two lengthy days of debate both running into late night sessions—unexpectedly late night for one of the major issues of the 1960 session.

As it came to the floor, the bill carried 500 million dollars annually for the next two years for grants to the states for school construction only.

But a large group of Democrats was determined to bolster it and finally succeeded. They narrowly failed Wednesday night to boost the grant total to $1,100,000,000 a year indefinitely and add teacher salaries to the program; this lost on a 44-44 tie vote with Vice President Richard M. Nixon helping to nail down its defeat.

But Thursday a cut-down version of this proposal was substituted for the original measure by a 54-35 vote. The successful compromise, sponsored by Sens. A. S. Mike Monroney (D - Okla.), and Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), provided for $916,800,000 a year in grants for each of the next two years.

The vote marked the first time since 1949 the Senate has passed a general school aid bill. It later died in the House.

NEA Victory

The House debated a school construction bill in 1957 but it failed to pass by five votes. Congress has been struggling with the issue since 1871, almost a century.

The Senate outcome was a substantial victory for the National Education Assn. and teacher organizations over the country.

The pattern of the final bill followed that of the Murray-Metcalf measure which the NEA long has pushed, although the Senate passed bill fell well short of the money totals the education group wanted.

The bill states flatly that there can be no interference with policies or operations of local schools in the administration of the act.

The funds would be channeled to the states through local state education agencies. However, the states and local districts would decide how much could be spent for teacher salaries, and how much for construction.

There would be no matching requirement in the first year of the program; in the second year, the states would have to put up, on the average, one dollar for each four of federal money, but this would vary widely depending on the wealth of the state.

The money would be allocated among the states based on a formula taking into account relative school-age population as weighed by relative income per school-age child.

Texas would get the most, $62,657,000 a year, and Alaska the least, $642,000.

The grants carried in the bill are authorizations; appropriations would have to be sought later.

Snowdrifts Paralyze Five States

By The Associated Press
A SLASHING storm charges across the Mississippi Valley, icing highways and spinning off at least one tornado Thursday night after paralyzing a five-state area with heavy snowdrifts.

Whipping winds left drifts as deep as 10 feet in parts of the snowbound Southern Plains and Rockies. Phone lines were down. Highways were blocked. Schools were closed.

One by one the human strays caught in the blizzard Wednesday were located by rescuers. A school bus driver and five children were snuggled in a ranch home near Dalhart, Tex., when located after an all-night effort. Three persons missing in the Boise City neighborhood of Oklahoma's Panhandle turned up in good condition.

Moves East, North

The character of the storm, and the emphasis, shifted eastward and north Thursday. Most precipitation turned to rain. But in the northern part of the storm path, the cold formed a glaze which made traffic hazardous in parts of Illinois, Missouri and Iowa.

A twister was reported by the Weather Bureau to have raked a section near Pelahatchi, Miss., 20 miles east of Jackson, causing damage.

Rain and glaze extended north-eastward from the Southern Plains storm. Freezing rain fell from central Kansas to northwestern Illinois. To the south, there was rain spreading eastward in Indiana and Kentucky.

Rain also splattered parts of the Southeast where considerable wet weather has backed up many streams in Alabama and the Carolinas. Coastal sections of the Pacific Northwest again received some rainfall.

U.S. To Test New Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has enough nerve gas on hand "to kill every man, woman and child in the world," the House was told Thursday.

Rep. Byron L. Johnson (D-Colo.) said the gas was stored in his congressional district and that "a drop or two on the skin is fatal."

Johnson told a reporter later the gas is stored in metal casks at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver.

He spoke in the House during a discussion of chemical and biological warfare.

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes (D-Fla.) told the House, "there are people who carry on a constant campaign against CBR to the detriment of the national defense and security."

Sikes said "the crusaders against CBR" dwell at length on its terrors without pointing out it can save lives or that conventional and nuclear weapons are just as deadly.

Funds Earmarked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania would get $47,726,000 for teacher salaries and school construction in each of the next two years under the education bill passed Thursday by the Senate.

Reelected President

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Parks Kennedy, 67, won re-election Thursday as president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

education department; and Leroy Mikels, representing the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce. Standing, left to right, Horace Heller, general manager of The Daily Record who proposed the move; Henry Klerx, Industrial Management Club; George Stabenow, International Boiler Works; Jack Kerlin, Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.; Charles R. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney who acted as moderator; and Heller.

Industry and business officials sought out the feasibility of starting a program in which the services of the ESSC could be coordinated with community development projects.

Science Fair Committee Increases Cash Awards

ADVANCED PLANNING for the Monroe County Science Fair to be held March 23, 24 and 25 at the East Stroudsburg Armory took place last night in a meeting of the fair committee at The Daily Record office.

Nerve Gas Stockpiled In Colorado

A number of important steps were approved as the committee sought to make this year's fair even more successful than the one held last year.

For one thing, the committee voted to increase the size of the prizes to be awarded in the eight divisions. First prize winners will receive a cash award of $15, compared with $10 a year ago; second prize, $10 instead of $7, and third prize will remain at $5.

New Classification
In 1959, only seven divisions were included in the fair. One new classification—human biology—has been added this year because of the large number of exhibits entered a year ago under the general classification of biology.

Six divisions will be in the senior high school class: chemistry, physics, engineering, biology, human biology and conservation. The other two divisions, both in the junior high class, are physical science and natural science.

George Learn, president, led the discussion at last night's meeting. It was decided to expand the scope of the organization by inviting all science teachers in the county to join.

Ned Erick, representing the Industrial Management Club, was named chairman of arrangements; Justin Feltham, of Barrett Township School, of judging; Grant Bartholomew, East Stroudsburg, opening ceremony; John F. Hill, The Daily Record, prizes; and Thomas Knepp, Stroud Union; Lewis Hastie, East Stroudsburg; George Learn, Pocono Township; Ronald Davis, Tobyhanna Township; and Russell Barhight, East Stroudsburg, coordinators.

Science Students
All students in the county's high schools will be eligible to enter exhibits in the fair. Judging will take place Wednesday, March 23, at 7 p.m. and the fair will be open to the public Thursday from 4 to 9:30 p.m. and Friday from 4 to 10 p.m.

Another meeting of the fair committee will be held Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Discoverer Rocket Fails To Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Discoverer IX satellite rocket failed to reach orbital speed and fell back into the earth's atmosphere Thursday after a successful launch.

The Air Force said the rocket failed to achieve orbital velocity for reasons unknown. Officers said they did not know whether or not the second stage separated from the first—for lack of information.

Third Failure
First indication of trouble came about an hour after launch with the report that no radio transmission had been received.

The rocket was tracked by radar and this data was being analyzed to determine what went wrong.

This was the third of the nine Discoverers launched to date, which failed to achieve orbit. None has performed the main mission of the series: to eject a capsule so it can be recovered—pioneering a new way to return man from space.

The Jupiter later said the shot was successful. An announcement noted that the test series had been completed four months ahead of schedule.

This was the 30th Jupiter launched by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. Of the previous shots, 22 were successful, 5 partially successful and 2 failures.

Although this shot ends the test program, other Jupiters may be fired from time to time to check certain engineering refinements.

The Jupiter was declared operational last May and 45 of these missiles soon will be deployed with NATO troops in Italy and Turkey.

Wins Approval
WASHINGTON (AP)—A billion-dollar housing bill designed to make credit easier won the approval Thursday of the House Banking subcommittee on housing. It was a party vote, Democrats favoring it and Republicans opposed.

Agree To Arbitrate
CLEVELAND (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Thursday agreed to have an arbitration board settle its 11-month-old wage dispute with the nation's railroads. This is a move seldom taken by rail unions in the past.

Cabinet Hothead
To Be Dropped
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle will announce Friday a new French cabinet to go along with his new iron-rule powers to crush Algerian crises. The somewhat tamed hothead Jacques Soustelle is expected to be dropped.

Dismissal of the one-time political lion of Algeria's rebellious French settlers would coincide with a current drive against right wingers and petty fascists.

ESSC Facilities Would Aid Firms Train Personnel

By Robert L. Clark
Daily Record City Editor

A SELF-TAGGED "wedding" of East Stroudsburg State College and the community was proposed last night by a cross-section of industry and business leaders in a meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The conference, welded together by The Daily Record through General Manager Horace G. Heller, initiated steps to start a community benefit program in which industry and business could use the services and advice of ESSC on a consultant and classroom basis.

Dr. Leroy J. Koehler, president of ESSC, headed a delegation of college officials which included Dr. Eugene Powers, head of the school's education department, and Dr. Floyd Shafer, a member of the board of trustees of the institution.

Business, Industry

Representing business and industry were: Leroy Mikels, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce; Henry Klerx, Industrial Management Club; George Stabenow, International Boiler Works; Jack Kerlin, Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.; Charles R. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney who acted as moderator; and Heller.

Industry and business officials sought out the feasibility of starting a program in which the services of the ESSC could be coordinated with community development projects.

Also discussed was the possibility of the school answering problems which crop up in business and industry daily.

Dr. Koehler said the school is at the disposal of the community at all times and that he saw no reason why such an "advanced" program could not be instituted.

However, he directed the members of the session to write requests to him so that he may turn the information over to ESSC's Board of Trustees for official endorsement.

State Approval
He also emphasized that the State Department of Public Instruction must give its okay to the program, if the college is involved in any way.

The conferees heard of the debits and advantages of such an undertaking. Dr. Powers, a veteran in the consulting field for industry, outlined the steps to be taken to move forward and the obstacles that must be overcome before undertaking such a task.

Dr. Powers pinpointed, "There is no doubt in my mind that the community will benefit immensely by this move. Industry and business are bound to gain in stature and trained personnel."

Dr. Powers, a former member of the Villanova University faculty—in order to give the proposal more momentum—advocated talks with both the Industrial Management Club and Pocono Mountain Chamber of Commerce. He plans to do this in the near future.

It was pointed out that ESSC and the community were more or less a "divorced" pair. This session, The Daily Record's Heller noted, "was brought together for the sole purpose of merging the two."

Mutual Undertaking
Heller remarked, "This community needs the college and the college needs us. I can see no other way than joining together in a community benefits program with industry-business and East Stroudsburg State College as the bride and groom."

Both Dr. Koehler and Dr. Powers answered questions from the floor from Stabenow, Kerlin, Klerx, Mikels, Dr. Shafer and Bensinger. All of the discussion moved in the direction of setting up a "school" to advise and teach industry and business employees in the proper and modern techniques of their vocations.

To a man all agreed the program, proposed by Heller and sanctioned by Dr. Koehler and Dr. Powers, is a must for the community.

Bensinger said that further sessions on the proposal will be held in order to inform all of the project.

Congress Gets Costs
WASHINGTON (AP) — Military construction projects costing $1,034,161,000 were submitted to Congress Thursday with a request for approval. The money would be voted later in a separate bill.

Starting Off Well
WASHINGTON (AP) Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller said Thursday 1960 is starting off well and that the nation is enjoying "good, steady, consistent growth."

11 Washed Off Ship; Seven Lost

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — One man was killed and six others were believed drowned Thursday when the destroyer Daly rolled heavily in the Atlantic during sea trials 200 miles off the Virginia coast.

Eleven men were washed overboard in the mishap but five were rescued. Five destroyers and a number of land-based aircraft combed the area Thursday night with the slim hope of finding the missing sailors.

The crewman known dead was fatally injured while still on board the ship. He was not one of those washed overboard, Atlantic Fleet headquarters said.

Trial Run
The Daly, with two other destroyers based at Newport R. I., was undergoing trials off the coast preparatory to entering the Norfolk Naval Shipyard at Portsmouth, Va. None of the ships had been to Norfolk.

The accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. Three of the 11 men who were washed overboard were plucked from the ocean by the Daly. Two others were rescued by the merchant ship Alabama, which was proceeding toward Cape Henry late Thursday night and was expected off the coast early Friday.

One of the rescued men was reported injured seriously.

The Navy said there was no information as to what caused the roll of the Daly in which the men were swept into the sea. Weather conditions in the area were not reported.

Taylor Urges Measures For
U.S. Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, until last year the Army's commander, declared Thursday that from 1961 on the military tide "will run against us—unless we take heroic measures now."

To pay for such measures, the retired Army chief of staff estimated the nation could stand a 50-billion to 55-billion-dollar annual military budget. That would be from 10 to 15 billion more than President Eisenhower has been asking.

"To change the trend will require men, money and sacrifice," the veteran soldier told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee and Space Committee.

No Hope If Inferior
"The alternative is military inferiority—and there is no living with communism as an inferior."

While Taylor was speaking in this vein, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke was telling a Senate Appropriations subcommittee U. S. armed might is growing ever more powerful.

However, Burke, chief of naval operations, agreed with a Republican senator's suggestion that it would be wise to increase construction of missile-firing Polaris submarines until, as the Senator put it, "we can close the gap" in the navy.

Nonetheless, Burke stressed "I support the President's budget" which allocates funds for fewer Polaris subs than the Navy asked—subs Burke claimed will be invulnerable to any surprise Soviet blow.

Building A Better CAS

Resignation of Albert J. Molitor as executive secretary of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County clears the way for a close renewal of relations between the society and the County Commissioners.

The storm center that broke over Mr. Molitor's relationship with the commissioners was regrettable in many ways, but we feel much good has come out of the controversy because it was aired in true democratic fashion.

It brought about an awareness of the many fine services performed by the CAS and publicized the part the county plays in helping to finance those services. More important, perhaps, the dispute pointed out a number of weaknesses in the previous set-up and paved the way for their eventual elimination.

The fact that too much emotionalism crept into the dispute resulted in some of the basic issues being obscured. This development unfortunately caused much ill will and for a time threatened the very foundation on which Children's Aid was operating.

In the final showdown, however, a solution which shows promise of being workable was agreed upon by both sides with Arlington W. Williams and a committee from the Kiwanis Club serving as mediators. This approach, incidentally, was along lines suggested in editorials which had appeared in The Daily Record.

From now on, all thinking should be pointed directly at the future with only one objective in mind: rebuilding the society under the capable supervision of a qualified executive who can handle the many responsibilities of the office with the least amount of interference possible.

After all, the welfare of the children referred to the society is the only thing that matters. If we want to do a good job in providing proper care for these children, we must put aside the hard feelings that developed during the dispute and work toward the common goal of building a bigger and better Children's Aid Society.

Publicity For Pennsylvania

Recently there came to the editor's desk a book—not a mere booklet or brochure—telling of all the attractions for tourists in what is widely called a bankrupt state.

That state, Michigan, has many attractions for tourists. It has more inland lakes than any other state. And it is making it its business to tell the world about them, so that the world knows. And it gets a lot of the tourist business.

Pennsylvania is also one of the most beautiful states in the union. It has often been called the most beautiful of all. From its mountain peaks to its deepest valleys it has a range of scenic beauty matched by few other states.

But, unlike Michigan, the state isn't really telling its story.

Those thousands of tourists who visit the state parks and see the beauties of Pennsylvania mostly do so because they heard of them from others, or because they happen to come to Pennsylvania.

The state does issue literature on its tourist attractions. It can be secured by writing to the State Department of Forests and Waters or to the State Department of Commerce. But those who do not know that there are such beauties in Pennsylvania are not likely to write for literature.

Why does not Pennsylvania do more than it does to tell the people of the United States, and visitors from other countries, of the scenic beauty, the many historic spots, from the crematory on Washington's southern hill to Independence Hall at Philadelphia.

Local areas, also could do more to publicize these attractions.

The fact is that too many Pennsylvanians do not know what they have in their own state, and when they go on a sightseeing vacation they go elsewhere. At the same time some tourists who do know come to Pennsylvania and often see more thrilling views than are seen by Pennsylvanians who go elsewhere.

Certainly, if bankrupt Michigan can afford to publish a book of many pages for distribution to those to whom it wishes to tell of its attractions, Pennsylvania, which is not quite so nearly bankrupt, could do something as effective.

The returns in tourist traffic and trade would certainly balance the publishing budget.

More well planned, aggressive publicity should help Pennsylvania and its people immeasurably.

The Pennsylvania Story

Alfonso Without Horse

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's new Harness Racing Commission, authorized by the last session of the Legislature to supervise pari-mutuel harness racing in Pennsylvania (made legal for the first time in Pennsylvania's blue law - tinged history) unquestionably has had a hectic time at the starting post.

This week State Auditor General Charles C. Smith, who on occasion has been known to throw a mean horseshoe, sent Pennsylvania's nag-lovers off on a hasty trot to temporary pasture, one of a series of such trots recently.

The set-back for Pennsylvania's horse race set came when not-so-horsey Auditor General Smith rose in his financial saddle to inquire as to how the Administration's Office of Administration (which in itself is somewhat confusing) figures the new horse betting commission could be financed from appropriations of the State Department of Agriculture until it could get on its own financial feet.

From the Smith stables came this neigh: "We haven't been able to find any law that permits such a thing. Under the circumstances we will be forced to refuse to approve such bills when they are submitted."

The 1959 Legislature in creating the commission appropriated money from the new State Harness Racing Fund to pay salaries of employees and other commission expenses—but the horse set in the Legislature neglected to provide "interim operating funds" until the Harness Racing Fund is built up.

All of which reduces it down to the age-old question of which came first—the egg or the chicken?

To Pennsylvania's harness racing enthusiasts it's no braying matter—and to race betting enthusiasts it represents considerably more than a fiscal whinny! To horse, to horse, Alfonso—if Alfonso only had a horse.

With Both Barrels—Usually when the State Senate is opposed to the confirmation of any gubernatorial appointees the appointment simply dies with the end of the session—and so does the gubernatorial appointee insofar as Senate clearance is concerned.

Such a course is viewed as the "gentle" way of easing out a "negative" appointee. . . . The 1959 and the current 1960 sessions proved to be the exception to this general rule. . . .

This is what happened:

In the 1959 session Democratic Gov. Lawrence forwarded to the Republican-controlled Senate the names of former Congressman Herbert J. McGlinchey, of Philadelphia and New Kensington Mayor Raymond E. Gardlock for confirmation as new members of the State Tax Equalization Board.

Senate Republicans opposed the appointments as "purely political" and were content to let the matter ride there.

However Senate Democrats were insistent that the names be brought out of committee for a floor vote on confirmation. . . . They were and both were knocked down.

When the 1960 session convened, Mr. Lawrence again submitted the names of McGlinchey and Gardlock and for the second time in a row the appointments were batted down again this week publicly. . . .

Grooved one Senate GOPster: "What does it take to drive home a point with those lads on the other side of the aisle?"

Hats Off Department—Kudos to able Publicist Dave Gerard, who heads up public relations for the State Department of Public Instruction—and who apparently practices the public relations he preaches, in a rather unusual fashion.

A call the other day to DPI man Gerard's office brought forth this reply from his girl Friday: "Mr. Gerard is home sick today. He offers his regrets that he is unable to talk with you but hopes you will call again." . . . Well! . . . That left us speechless.

New Labor Doctrine

Usually the purpose of a picket line is to keep people out of a place because the workers are on strike. Many people will not cross a picket line. This is an abnegation of reason to mass pressure.

The Stork Club in New York, a famous restaurant and saloon, has been picketed since Jan. 8, 1957. I occasionally go to this place and cross the picket line because nobody is going to make decisions for me.

I have, on several occasions, asked a picket what it is all about but never received an intelligent answer, perhaps the union or the police forbidding prolonged conversations between pickets and customers.

I resent being told what to do by a fellow whose mumbled words do not represent a high degree of intelligence. Now I am altogether confused. The case came into court before Judge Archie O. Brown, a very able Federal Judge.

On the witness stand was Andrius Susti, president of Local 89, Chefs, Cooks, Pastry Cooks and Assistants Union. Susti has been an official of that union for 21 years.

Susti said that the Stork Club strike was originally called "that the employer should recognize these people and the union as the collective bargaining agent for these people so that we can establish wages and conditions which are prevailing throughout the city. I think that is all."

However, since the passage of the Landrum-Griffin Bill, the unions have decided that they should not picket for union recognition. Susti testified: "We were advised that under the law we are not permitted to continue to picket the same way as we had done in the past. We did not ask for recognition any longer because it was against the law, and we were advised that in order to lawfully continue to picket, we were told that this is the only way we can do it."

"Q. Were you told that you had to withdraw your demand for recognition and bargaining?"

"A. Correct, sir, and make a statement of the fact. We sent one to the National Labor Relations Board and one to (Sherman) Billingsley that we do not seek recognition."

This colloquy occurred which tells what is likely to happen all over the country: "The court: One of these picket signs says, 'The Stork Club does not have a contract with the Chefs, Cooks, Pastry Cooks and Assistants Union.'"

"Why should the public be informed of that unless you want a contract? Do you want to have a contract with him?"

"The witness: No, sir, we want him to pay the wages, and have the same protections and same benefits."

"The court: In order to do that, you want the employees to enter into a contract with the union?"

"The witness: No, sir. The court: Why does it make any difference to the people whether they have a contract or not?"

"The witness: To notify the public that that house is not a union house."

"The court: What is a union house?"

"The witness: A union house is where the wages and conditions are prevailing."

"The court: And are fixed by contract, is that right, by the union?"

"The witness: That is right. The court: You want to tell the public that they don't have a contract with the union?"

"The witness: That is correct. The court: One of the things you want them to do is make a contract, isn't it, so that you would prevail?"

"The witness: No, sir, we are not permitted under the law to sign a contract, so we are picketing to inform the public that this house has no contract with the local union and they are not a fair employer and whatever he wants to do he can do it . . ."

"The court: . . . Why do you say the employees don't have a contract on the picket sign unless you want them to get a contract?"

"The witness: No. The court: You don't want them to get a contract?"

"The witness: No, sir. This goes on for pages of testimony. It is apparent from this that the settlement of a strike now becomes increasingly difficult. The union dares not say that it desires a new contract and is striking for it; the employer has to guess what the union really wants."

Down in Hattiesburg, Miss., a man by the name of P. D. East puts out a tabloid newspaper called "The Petal Paper."

The name Petal is derived from a suburb of Hattiesburg where the paper is published weekly.

East is a man dedicated to equality of race, color and creed and says so determinedly in his editorials.

A FEW YEARS AGO East had a circulation of 2300, most of which was delivered to homes in the Mississippi area. Today the fire editor doesn't have one subscription in Ole Miss. The reason — his writings against keeping one man down and another up.

Today, we are glad to report, that East's words are not going unheeded. In the midst and here in the north, his paper is going into homes describing the inequality in the south.

We happened to pick up one of his issues yesterday and became very much interested in its contents. For instance he had quotes from Martin Luther King, John Donne, Sioux Indians and Chinese.

King said, "Any religion that professes to be concerned with the souls of men and is not concerned with the slums that damn them, the economic conditions that strangle them, and the social conditions that cripple them, is a dry-as-dust religion."

Donne remarked, "No man is an island, entire of itself. Every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main. Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind."

A Chinese proverb liked by East says "All the flowers of all the tomorrows are in the seeds of today."

A Sioux Indian's prayer notes "Never to judge another until I have walked two weeks in his moccasins."

This battle for integration is practically carrying on a one-man crusade in Mississippi — probably one of the toughest states to make an impression on.

It is heartening to hear of such individuals who truly carry the torch for something they believe in sincerely.

Probably colleague East will never live to see the day when integration will be in effect in Mississippi. However, his words are making a deep impression on those in other parts of the nation. And of course they made a deep imprint on Ole Miss when 2300 subscribers decided they were reading the truth and dropped the paper.

"The witness: To notify the public that that house is not a union house."

"The court: What is a union house?"

"The witness: A union house is where the wages and conditions are prevailing."

"The court: And are fixed by contract, is that right, by the union?"

"The witness: That is right. The court: You want to tell the public that they don't have a contract with the union?"

"The witness: That is correct. The court: One of the things you want them to do is make a contract, isn't it, so that you would prevail?"

"The witness: No, sir, we are not permitted under the law to sign a contract, so we are picketing to inform the public that this house has no contract with the local union and they are not a fair employer and whatever he wants to do he can do it . . ."

"The court: . . . Why do you say the employees don't have a contract on the picket sign unless you want them to get a contract?"

"The witness: No. The court: You don't want them to get a contract?"

"The witness: No, sir. This goes on for pages of testimony. It is apparent from this that the settlement of a strike now becomes increasingly difficult. The union dares not say that it desires a new contract and is striking for it; the employer has to guess what the union really wants."

Interpreting The News

Britain Strengthens Allied Position

By J. M. Roberts Associated Press News Analyst

Britain, having joined the United States several years ago in a heavy reliance on nuclear deterrent power, is now preparing to hold the line in that field for a while as it refurbishes its ability to fight brush fires.

Most of the new money in a record-breaking peacetime defense budget will be devoted to rearmament and to increasing the mobility of Britain's conventional forces at home and abroad.

Despite all the talk about nuclear arms and missiles, the United States and Britain have maintained a certain ability to meet what, in a world where such destructive strategic weapons exist, might be termed tactical military situations.

Britain displayed its confidence in this ability during the Suez crisis in 1956, and the United States when it landed forces in Lebanon.

But it has been six years now since John Foster Dulles made his famous "massive retaliation" speech which caused so much controversy.

What he was doing, actually, was to warn Red China and the Soviet Union that they could not rely upon immunity from attack at home if they started new wars, such as Korea, around their perimeters.

He specifically reserved the right to consider any given situation on its own merits.

About the same time, Britain came to a conclusion that it was indefensible in a nuclear war and that it must rely chiefly on avoiding it.

These things produced parallel emphasis in Britain and the United States on nuclear development, instead of an apportionment of duties under the alliance. There undoubtedly was some politics involved on Britain's part, too, just as there is in France's desire to develop atomic weapons of its own.

At any rate, it appears now, despite all the arguments about degrees of preparedness, that the Soviet Union and the United States alone are in a sufficient balance of nuclear power to make war on that plane irrational and incredible.

Britain's decision to strengthen its conventional forces therefore promises to supplement and help balance the overall Allied position.

The Allen-Scott Report

Meany Blocks Humphrey

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — AFL-CIO president George Meany is sticking a significant oar in Wisconsin's increasing labor strife.

At Meany's direct personal intervention, the Executive Committee of the State Federation of Labor pigeonholed a resolution that would have put the group on record in favor of Senator Hubert Humphrey.

This would have been an important campaign advantage, as it would have given the Minnesota an exclusive labor stamp of approval.

But instead of such a full endorsement, the Wisconsin labor leaders warmly commended Humphrey's liberal legislative record, and then carefully added they are prepared to extend similar approval to any other liberal presidential aspirant who asks for it.

Senator John Kennedy is going to do just that. And so is Senator Wayne Morse, who is squaring off to throw his turbulent hat into this ring.

Both Humphrey and Kennedy have been endorsed by their home state AFL-CIO organizations. In addition, Kennedy has been approved by the Connecticut Federation of Labor.

That is why Humphrey is privately miffed at Meany's intervention in Wisconsin.

"I would have had the full endorsement of the AFL-CIO in Wisconsin," Humphrey told Senator Pat Mc Namara (D, Mich.).

"If Meany hadn't gotten on the phone and stopped it, he called members of the Executive Committee and urged them not to declare for anyone. I am told that two-thirds of the committee was ready to vote for me, but Meany dissuaded them."

"He didn't do that in Connecticut, where the State AFL-CIO endorsed Kennedy. Meany made no effort to stop that. So I can't understand why he went out of his way to intervene in Wisconsin. Certainly my labor record doesn't deserve such treatment."

George Haberman, president of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO, has personally endorsed Humphrey. But in doing that, the labor leader emphasized, he was speaking only for himself.

Sam Rizzo, former United Auto Workers organizer and Humphrey's Wisconsin campaign manager, spearheaded the backstage drive for an all-out AFL-CIO endorsement.

To prepare the ground for that, Rizzo arranged for Humphrey to confer with Haberman, other Wisconsin labor leaders and Walter Reuther, UAW chief.

Offsetting this disappointment, Humphrey has the hearty blessing of a powerful agricultural organization.

The Farmers Union, with a large membership in Wisconsin and Minnesota, not only has endorsed him but, even more important, is providing much-needed funds for his campaign.

The organization vigorously backed Senator Estes Kefauver in his upset victory over Adlai Stevenson in the 1956 Minnesota primary.

Men wanted — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler is still looking for a permanent chairman and head of the Platform Committee of the Los Angeles convention.

That's what he told Speaker Sam Rayburn in a talk that produced no results.

Rayburn strongly favors Rep. Hale Boggs, La., who also has the backing of former President Truman for Permanent Chairman. Butler had indicated he, too, was for Boggs, but didn't say that in this private discussion.

Instead, Butler claimed some "liberals" have objected to Boggs, but carefully did not name them.

Former Senator Earle Clements, Ky., and Representative John Rooney, N. Y., chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee on the State Department's budget, were proposed by Rayburn as possibilities for chairman of the Platform Committee.

Again Butler didn't say no, but declared he is still "considering" Senator Joseph Clark, Pa., who has announced he doesn't want this job.

About all Rayburn did get out of Butler was ambiguous assurance he would again confer with him "before making a final decision." To which the veteran Texan retorted, "Make sure you do that before you have settled things, and not afterwards."

Politicals — "Johnson for President" clubs are now active in 27 states. This quietly-organized far-flung campaign machinery is being geared for a high-powered drive when the Senate Democratic Leader formally throws his hat into the ring.

Former Gov. Keen Johnson is the leading choice of Kentucky Democratic leaders to run against Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R., who has always garnered a lot of Democratic votes.

Memos of a Girl Friday

Dear WW: Regarding your query on the author of "The Good Soup" play due in March.

The playwright is Felice on Marco a Frenchman. He is actually Albert Carrot, who broadcast Nazi propaganda and a (over Radio Brussels) in World War II. He was convicted and sentenced by a Belgian court to 20 years for "collaboration." After the war he escaped to France. His works have not been published in Belgium since the war because of Article 312 of the Belgian Criminal Code which prohibits publication of material authored by convicted Nazi radio rouser he incited listeners against "decadent democracies." Now, Herr Carrot (Marceau) apparently gotten Nazis and wants some not-so-decadent American cabbage.

Critic Brooks Atkinson's "real" reason for retiring after the show season ends reveals the true humility of the man. He fears that his opinions have become "too important a factor" in the fate of plays. . . . One rumor had Arthur Gelb (of the same drama staff) inheriting the job. Other staffers, however, told me that Mr. Gelb and his wife are busy writing a definitive saga of Eugene O'Neill and that Gelb needs all the spare time he can get for it.

Your comment about ex-champ Joe Louis being partner in the Billy Rowe public relations firm (which has the Cuban Tourist Board for a client) got Rowe on the phone. He said Joe hasn't rec'd a dime from the Cuban Gov't. Boosting it because he believes Castro is being fair to Negroes. . . . Is Mr. Rowe not accepting any fee, too? Or does he mean

More Added To Rolls

More than 16,000 additional Northeastern Pennsylvanians were added to Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield membership rolls during the special enrollment period conducted in the late Fall.

Members of the Board of Directors of Hospital Service Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania at their recent meeting in Wilkes-Barre received reports tabulating these figures of the new memberships that became effective Dec. 31, 1959: Blue Cross enrollees, 8,681; Blue Shield, 8,008, for a total of 16,689.

Non-group enrollment in 1960 will follow a county-by-county pattern. ## Upholds Verdict Against Beck

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — The State Supreme Court yesterday upheld the conviction of former Teamsters Union President Dave Beck on a charge of grand larceny.

The 4-4 opinion affirmed the King County Superior Court.

Beck was convicted of embezzling $1,900 received from the sale of a Cadillac owned by the union.

The decision left Beck, 65, with three choices. He can appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, ask the State Supreme Court to reconsider or begin serving his sentence of up to 15 years.

Keystone Flags At Half Mast

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence has ordered flags on all state buildings to be flown at half mast until after the funeral of Warren R. Roberts, former auditor general.

"I am deeply grieved to learn of the death of one of my oldest friends and counselors," Lawrence said in a statement Thursday. The governor served as secretary of administration in the administration of former Governor Earle, when Roberts was auditor general.

Roberts died Wednesday in St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem. Funeral services will be there Saturday at 11 a.m. at Salem Lutheran Church. Burial will follow at Nisky Hill Cemetery.

"Warren Roberts served his community, his state and his nation notably and well for many years," Lawrence said. He said Roberts accomplished great good and left a record that would long be envied.

Roberts was elected to the state senate in 1926 from Northampton County and served three terms. He was Democratic floor leader in 1935-36.

In 1940, Roberts headed the state delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Steel Union Gain 'Overestimated'

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP) — An insurgent group in the United Steelworkers Union Wednesday referred to the USW's new labor contract with the steel industry as a "bag of crumbs."

Nicholas Mamula, publicity chairman for the Dues Protest Committee and president of USW Local 1211 in Aliquippa, Pa., said the value of the new agreement to workers is "grossly overestimated."

Mamula, long an opponent of United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, said gains would amount to about 20 cents an hour over the next 30 months instead of 40 cents an hour as McDonald had said.

Politics, Anybody? Sure, Say Teenagers— Assuming They Can Confine It To Voting

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co.

THIS PRESIDENTIAL election year finds America's teenagers keenly interested in politics—but not as a career.

polling 727 young people on their political views, we found they have definite opinions, even though they're not yet old enough to vote, and that they figure, like their elders, that Nixon is the man to beat for President.

The poll turned up a sharp contrast between interest in politics and plans for actual participation. Some 90 per cent of the young people say they are looking forward to casting their first ballot. But only four per cent ever expect to run for political office. Most of the girls feel women do not belong in the field. Most of the boys have already chosen another profession, or feel they are not suited to political life.

"I enjoy social offices but consider myself incapable for political offices," says Lyn Olliff, 17, of Griffin, Ga. Jane Manning, 16, of Clarks Summit, Pa., says most of the people she knows in local politics "seem to be willing to do anything to gain votes."

Carol D. Camross, 18, of Tonawanda, N. Y., says "I'd like to help others who are well qualified for office run and be elected, but I don't have any intention of holding office." Mary A. Tenfelder, 17, of St. Louis feels, "A woman's place is in the home, politics is for men."

Only one per cent of the teenagers expect to work in a political organization this year. Many explained by saying they are too young or have too little knowledge in the field. Others feel they do not have enough interest, opportunity or spare time for political action.

Feel Elders Have Failed
As for the big event of casting that first ballot, many of the young people we talked to feel strongly about the value of their vote.

Jacqueline Davis, 15, of Detroit, says, "I want a part in running our country." And Betsy de Raesmens, 13, of Noroton, Conn., feels "It's a great thing to be able to pick a person to head a government."

However, some teen-agers expressed dissatisfaction with how their elders are doing at the polls.

Eldridge Dounes, 16, of Hadonfield, N. J., says he's looking forward to voting because "I feel the parents today don't give a hoot who gets into office."

Party leaders can note that 52 per cent of the teen-agers we talked to consider themselves Democrats while 28 per cent are Republicans. Another 20 per cent are independents or haven't yet picked a party label.

Seventy per cent of the young people say their politics agree with those of their parents. More girls than boys—74 per cent against 67 per cent—go along with parental political views. Some 13 per cent differ with their parents on politics and 13 per cent wouldn't say.

They Follow The News
Asked where they get their political information, the majority of young people—67 per cent—say newspapers are their best source. Radio is second with 37 per cent and school third, with 36 per cent. Other information sources are parents, magazines, television and friends.

Eighty-five per cent of the teen-agers expect to vote regularly in their city, state and national elections when they turn 21. But 10 per cent say they probably won't cast regular ballots, especially in lesser elections.

Kathy Kerr, 15, of Cincinnati, is typical in saying, "I want my say in the government of my country."

While waiting for the vote,

How Do You Score Against Teenagers?

young people are definitely interested in following the big news of the 1960 political conventions and election. Fifteen per cent say they'll follow the news in great detail, 33 per cent in moderate detail and 29 per cent will do so "to some extent."

Betty Bromley, 14, of Chicago, says, "You educate yourself for when voting age comes."

Simone Dion, 16, of Hartford, Conn., puts it this way: "I find these events interesting, and I think everyone, no matter how old, should too."

Like Kennedy's Youth

We asked the teen-agers their choices for president and vice president in the 1960 election. Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts was named by 24 per cent of the Democratic teen-agers as their presidential favorite.

Adlai Stevenson was runner-up with 12 per cent and Stuart Symington third with 4 per cent. The same lineup stood for Democratic vice presidential choices. Some 59 per cent of the youngsters declined to name a choice.

Sandy Aronson, 15, of Dalton, Pa., says Kennedy's youth puts him "more in touch with American teen-agers."

In the Republican column, 32 per cent named Vice President Richard Nixon as their choice for president. Eleven per cent named New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who has since said he is not a candidate. For what it was worth, we asked the youngsters to do some political forecasting and found that 29 per cent believe Nixon will be our next president.

Thirteen per cent think Rockefeller could win the election.

Kennedy was in third place with 9 per cent and Stevenson fourth, with 5 per cent.

But—43 per cent of the young people did not want to try a prediction.

Newfoundland Troop 129 To Observe Scouts Birthday

NEWFOUNDLAND—Scouting's 50th anniversary will be observed by Troop 129, BSA, with a variety of activities during Boy Scout Week.

Mansfield Wants West Chester Game Replayed

MANSFIELD STATE COLLEGE president, Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber, doesn't feel that it was quite hostile to use Lou Bonder as an official in the Mansfield-West Chester basketball game Saturday.

Bonder, brother of the West Chester football coach, Jim Bonder, awarded the game to West Chester, on a forfeit with 6:18 left in the game and West Chester ahead 61-46.

Bonder said the Mansfield team was committing too many deliberate fouls and some of the players might get hurt.

Dr. Rathgeber, wants West Chester to replay or cancel the game. "We do not question Bonder's integrity," says Dr. Rathgeber, "only the wisdom of allowing one so closely tied to one team to officiate."

The win knocked Mansfield out of first place in the State Teacher's College loop.

East Stroudsburg Was Involved In Last Forfeit

Merle Agnello, conference publicist, writes in his weekly news letter that, the last known forfeit game involving STC teams happened in 1950, a year before the conference was organized.

East Stroudsburg lost to West Chester when the Warriors failed to play an overtime after the game ended in a 44-41 tie.

Stroudsburg claimed that it scored the winning field goal a fraction of a second before the game ended. The game was at West Chester.

Boxers Can Contact Freedman To Register

Amateur boxers interested in participating in the boxing program being set-up by Harry Freedman at his resort farm on the Delaware River can contact Freedman at Victor 1-9542.

Amateurs need to supply only trunks, sweat shirt and shoes. The whole thing is gratis and Freedman even supplies meals and transportation.

The Kosof World Endurance Bowling Classic at Ogden, Utah, beginning March 26, will give away more than $88,500 in prizes. The handicap event is expensive to enter but the prize loot that goes to the winner makes up for the entry fee.

So that no one will think they are being hi-jacked, the price of children's tickets for the Babe Ruth benefit game between the Easton-Madisons and the College All-Stars March 3 is 75 cents not 50 cents as listed in a Record story yesterday.

Stock Car Driver Building Own Track

Stock car racing has become so popular that Curtis Turner, a top NASCAR driver is building his own track in Charlotte, N.C. The track won't open until May 29 but ticket requests have been received from seven states already and as far away as Indiana.

The event called the "World 600" is a 600-mile race for late model stock cars with a purse of $100,000.

Balloting for the 1960 All-American basketball team began yesterday. This year's ballot should contain only three lines for nominations. Oscar Robertson and Jerry West are assured of first team berths.

The 1960 State Major Softball Tournament will be held in Stroudsburg, August 5, 6 and 7.

Injuries Take 4, Grades One For Leighton Contest Today

STROUD Union High, its varsity roster trimmed to six players, faces Leighton tonight at home in a must game.

In other area games, Parkland is at East Stroudsburg and Bangor goes to Nazareth in the Lehigh-Northampton League. The Bangor girls host Fountain Hill.

It's position night in the Monroe County League, with Tobyhanna at Coolbaugh, Barrett at Chestnut Hill and Pocono Twp. at Polk. Moscow is at Southern Wayne in a Wayne County tilt.

Deibler Wins ESSC Loses To Bloomsburg In Wrestling

BLOOMSBURG handed East Stroudsburg a 22-6 State College wrestling loss at Bloomsburg yesterday.

Tom Gleason at 123 pounds and Bill Deibler, 137, were the only Warrior winners.

Gleason, decided Bill Hughes 13-11 in the opening match while Deibler, who comes from Bethlehem but lives in East Stroudsburg now, took a 2-0 decision from Tom Gorant.

The win gives Deibler a 5-1 record on the year. Nickischer loses First Bloomsburg's Dale Sullivan handed Ken Nickischer his first loss of the season in the 130-pound go. Sullivan won a 4-0 decision.

The winners recorded two pins. Don Poust pinned Hugh Lawrence with a cradle hold at 1:36 and Harry Pritchard pinned Larry Strange in 6:20 with a half-nelson and inside croch.

Results
123 lbs. Tom Gleason (ESSC) dec. Bill Hughes 13-11
130 lbs. Dale Sullivan (B) dec. Ken Nickischer 4-0
137 lbs. Bill Deibler (ESSC) dec. Tom Gorant 2-0
147 lbs. Dick Rimple (B) dec. Mel Williams 6-0
157 lbs. Wayne Rieder (B) dec. Bob Zaritsky 4-1
167 lbs. Don Poust (B) pinned Hugh Lawrence 1:36 (cradle)
177 lbs. Bob Rohm (B) dec. John Skiptunas 7-0
Unlimited Harry Pritchard (B) pinned Larry Strange 6:20 (Half-nelson, inside croch)

Call Up Two
To give the varsity some reserves, Werts has called up Warren Loney and Henry Ray from the junior varsity.

If Stroudsburg is going to win a first division berth in the second half they must take Leighton. The next two Mountaineer games are on the road against Catawqua and Whitehall, the team that finished one-two in the first half. In the first meeting Leighton (won 51-19).

Barrett has lost all but a faint chance of overtaking front running Tobyhanna. It would require a combination Barrett victory and a Tobyhanna defeat to put Barrett in a tie for first place.

Possibly Playoff
If this happens there would be a playoff for the second half crown and should Barrett win that, it would still have to face the Pocono Lake team in the season championship. Tobyhanna won the first half.

But most observers believe that the league will wind up in the same order that it goes into tonight's final games.

Eastburg, which dropped its last game to Bangor, will pull a major upset if it can beat Parkland. The Cavaliers lost a 71-55 first half decision to the Parkers.

The Cavaliers snapped a nine-game losing streak a week ago against Hellertown but then lost to Bangor. Both John Hindman and Bill Hillman the team's top scorers were held to seven points.

Double Trouble
Bangor, the loop's cellar dwelling team in the first half and winner of only one league game, faces the Lehigh-Northampton top team in Nazareth. And to make the assignment even tougher the Slaters meet the leaders on the road.

Southern Wayne gets a chance to revenge a league opening defeat by Moscow.

The Stags trigger their attack around Bob Strupewski, who has averaged 33.5 points in his last two games.

Scoring Famine
The Wildcats, 10-point favorites, held a 32-28 halftime lead. However, after boosting the advantage to 15 points early in the second half, Villanova had a nine minute field goal famine. This enabled Manhattan to close the gap to 51-44.

Huggard then took charge again, scoring six of his team's next eight points for an insurmountable 59-46 margin.

B. Mengel counted 29 markers for Ronson and Marem hit 15 for Line Material.

SCHEUCH'S ESSO defeated Rotary Club 78-71 in an overtime game in the YMCA Senior League last night.

In the Industrial League, Patterson-Kelley handed Wemps its first loss, 75-48 and Ronson beat Line Material, 80-47.

Daye paced the Ezzo team with 21 points while Sydell hit 22 for Rotary. The clubbers fought back from a seven point first period deficit to knot the game at the end of regulation.

Bill Metzgar tossed in 33 points to pace Patterson-Kelley over Wemps. Bob Pugh had 23 for the losers.

B. Mengel counted 29 markers for Ronson and Marem hit 15 for Line Material.

Heavy Title Bout Set For June In N. Y.

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson's adviser said Thursday the Johansson-Floyd Patterson return bout was all set now under the promotional banners of Feature Sports, Inc.

In New York, travel agent Bill Fugazy, one of the chief executives of Feature Sports, said the fight will be held in the New York Polo Grounds the week of June 19-25.

"The only thing holding us up now is getting our promotional license from the New York State Athletic Commission," said Fugazy. "We hope to get it this week. When we do, we will apply for the date."

Ahlquist Arrives

Edwin Ahlquist, Johansson's adviser, arrived here Wednesday night following long hours of negotiations in New York with the new group headed by Fugazy and lawyer Roy Cohn.

"The return bout is as good as on now," said Ahlquist. "The only thing that remains is the formal signing of the contract and that could have been done in New York, too, except for some technicalities. Instead Ingemar and I plan to go back to America late this month to have the papers signed."

25 Per Cent Each

Fugazy said the fighters each will get 25 per cent of the gate receipts. Regarding television, radio and movies, Fugazy said the contracts on that were being negotiated so that the fighters will share 70 per cent of those rights.

Johansson won the title from Patterson on a third round technical knockout at New York's Yankee Stadium, June 26. It was the promotion of that fight that started a series of investigations and led to the new promoters and renegotiation of the contracts for the return fight.

Warriors Earn League's Hard Luck Nomination

By Curt Prins
Record Sports Editor
EAST Stroudsburg State College has completed only half of its basketball schedule but the Warriors are assured of the State Teacher's Conference "hard luck" title.

Injuries, close games and foul shooting troubles have plagued the Warriors, who have a 2-8 record.

The eight losses have been by a total of only 46 points or an average of six points a loss.

And in six of the defeats East Stroudsburg has outshot its opponents from the floor, once by 12 points, only to lose the games from the foul line.

Two Starters Out

And with the second half of the schedule starting Saturday, injuries and sickness have taken all but nine players, including two starters.

Co-captain and third high scorer, Joe Habakus, from Allentown, was the first to go. He suffered a concussion in a practice session and has missed three games.

Habakus is working out lightly but is not allowed to run.

Larry Walsh from Scranton, another starter, was hurt against Cheyney last Saturday. Walsh banged into a wall going in for a shot and cracked a bone in his shooting hand. He will be out for at least a week.

Double Trouble

Yesterday Will Peifley, six-foot, five-inch freshman center from Whitehall was sidelined with flu and was sent home to recover.

But the bad news came in pairs for coach Dick Luce yesterday. Bob Sweeney, reserve guard from Scranton and Tony Salerno, the team's number two scorer collided in a night-time practice with Sweeney ending up in the infirmary with a concussion and severely cut lip.

Biggest Margin

King's College handed the Warriors their biggest defeat, a 93-81 set-back in the opening game. Since then East Stroudsburg has lost twice by two points, once by a single point and by five points in an overtime against Mansfield, the runner-up team in the conference. The other losses were by 11, nine and six points.

Against Scranton University, East Stroudsburg out-shot the winners 29-26 from the floor but hit only six foul shots and lost 66-61. It was even worse against Kutztown. East Stroudsburg bagged 43 field goals to 37 for Kutztown but from the free throw line hit only 13 chances while the winners connected on 27.

The Warriors blew an 11 point half-time lead in losing to Shippensburg, and in the latest defeat saw Mansfield whittle away a six point lead with only 2:40 left in the game to tie the game at end of regulation time.

East Stroudsburg managed only seven foul shots while Mansfield hit for 18. From the floor the losers outscored Mansfield by six points.

Try Everything

"We try every drill possible to improve our foul shooting," says Luce, "but nothing seems to help."

Asked if his team was discouraged by the close losses, replied:

"I guess not, because they keep playing good ball games."

In the voting for members of the National Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico, Earl Sande was elected in 1955 with 571 votes, the largest number in the history of the balloting.

Inducted As PUC Aide

HARRISBURG (AP) — William F. O'Hara, Scranton, was inducted as a $19,000-a-year Public Utility Commissioner yesterday, giving Democrats control of the rate-regulating agency for the first time in some 20 years.

O'Hara, 41-year-old footless World War II veteran, received the oath of office from John S. Rice, Commonwealth secretary—the man who helped plan the Scrantonian's rescue from an Arctic icecap 18 years ago.

O'Hara was among nine Army Air Force crewmen marooned in Greenland for five months after their B-17 Flying Fortress crashed during World War II. Rice, an intelligence officer for the Army's North Atlantic Transport Command, helped plan the rescue.

Frostbite poisoning made it necessary to amputate O'Hara's feet. The new commissioner said he will resign as Lackawanna County register of wills—a post he has held since 1949.

The ceremonies were witnessed by O'Hara's wife, Joan, and two of their four children, Patricia and Robert.

Also on hand were Gov. David L. Lawrence, Joseph J. Lawler, Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission chairman, and members of the Lackawanna and Luzerne County legislative delegations.

PP&L Lineman Electrocuted

The company said Woz was working with a crew about a block from its service center plant when the accident occurred.

Dear Abby

Put Question To Him

My husband comes home at all hours and claims he has been working overtime. But he doesn't bring home the extra money to prove it. He is either lying about working overtime or else he is spending his money on monkey business. How does a wife find out these things?

IN THE DARK

Dear In: A wife has the right to know how many hours her husband works and how much he is paid. Ask him. If he refuses to tell you, warn him that you will go to his place of work and find out from his boss. Then it will be apparent that he can't be trusted, and he'll be lucky to be working Any Time, let alone Overtime. Unless I miss my guess, your husband will probably tell you himself.

Dear Abby: I think waiters and waitresses should smile and give just as good service to non-tippers. And I'll tell you why: Not everybody believes in tipping here on earth. Some people prefer to tip in their wills. So my advice is this: "Keep on giving good service in a Christ-like spirit and maybe they will remember you in their wills." I know of two such cases right here in this town.

J.G.H.

Dear J.G.H.: What you say may be true — but that's a long time to wait for a tip.

Record Hike In Student Loans

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Dr. Eric Walker, Pennsylvania State University president, Thursday said record increases in student loans point to a need for many more loan funds in the future.

Walker said educational loans to Penn State students this year increased 66 per cent to an all-time high of $300,000. And, he said, there are 155 requests for an additional $50,000 in loans for the second semester.

"It is already apparent, that there will be need in the future of more and more scholarships, more and more loan funds," said the university president.

"Without such assistance," he added, "many students will be denied the educational opportunity

Hands Over Post

GAZA (AP)—Col. I. J. Rykhov of India, chief of staff of the United Nations Emergency Force since April 1958, handed over the post Thursday to Col. H. A. Millen of Canada.

The largest member of the deer family is the American moose.

Stroud Fire Department To Honor 10-Year Veterans

SATURDAY night the Stroud Township Fire Department, under Chief Lester Rice, will hold its 11th annual dinner and dance, honoring their ten-year service men, at Pocono Mountain Inn, near Cresco.

The committee, headed by John E. Tierney, with Jess Muffley, LeRoy Smith and Bill Pieper, announced that there will be a reception at 5:00 p.m., followed by a dinner at 6:30 p.m. At 9:00 p.m. there will be dancing, square and round, in the Rainbow Room. Sometime during the dance there will be an award for all ten-year service men and they will receive special pins.

Chief Lester Rice at a recent meeting disclosed that the Stroud Township Fire Department is purchasing Scott Air Packs to use in fighting smoke fires, thus improving the efficiency of fire fighting by making it safer for firemen entering heavy smoked enclosures.

Texaco Hits New High

TEXACO, Inc., rose to a new high of $354,000,000 receipts or $5.85 a share in 1959. This is 13.7 per cent higher than the 1958 report.

The chairman reported that Texaco's capital and exploratory expenditures in 1959 exceeded $500,000,000, to set another record, and were expected to remain at that level this year.

HOMEOWNERS — BEWARE!

If you're thinking of ALUMINUM SIDING, STORM WINDOWS AND DOORS, or other home improvements, you should read the booklet "Horrors in Storm Windows and Doors" published by the Bureau of Nat'l. Affairs, Inc., Washington 7, D. C. The following is an excerpt from this booklet:

6. Steer clear of any salesman who says that your home has been selected 'as a model home eligible for a special low price.' And steer equally clear of anyone promises that he will pay anywhere from $5 to $50 every time a prospect looks at your installation and agrees to buy one like it. Such schemes are used every day by fakers from the tip of Maine to the Pacific shore.
